DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The rowhouse is two bays wide and three stories high. The building and foundation walls are laid in common bond. Fenestration is proportional throughout the building facade. To the left the foundation wall is punctuated by two flat four light casements that share a common wood mullion. The windows are accompanied by a shared stone sill. A stone watertable which spans the width of the facade acts as the lintel for these windows. To the right of the facade four stone steps and a stone stoop lead to flat wood double doors with panel insets. These doors are surmounted by a flat double light transom which in turn is surmounted by a splayed brick lintel. The doors and transom are housed in a painted wood casing. Two flat windows double hung with one over one lights and sharing a common mullion punctuate the left side of the first story facade. These windows share a stone sill as well as a half arched wood panel that surmounts them. The inset is incised with decorative carving and is surmounted by a half arched brick lintel.

A brick band course, interrupted by two symmetrically organized stone sills, gives visual delineation to the first story facade. The sills are surmounted by two flat windows double-hung with one over one lights. The windows are accompanied by splayed brick lintels.

The third story facade is punctuated by two flat windows double hung with one over one lights. These windows are accompanied by stone sills and splayed brick lintels. The two windows are organized more closely toward the center of the facade than those windows punctuating the second story facade. A second band course spans the facade immediately below the brick frieze. The lintels over the third story facade windows are centered among three brick brackets that interrupt the brick toothwork above the frieze and appear to support the applied gable that projects over the fake mansard roof. A square diagonally positioned brick medallion decorates the right side of the third story facade. The roof is flat.
